Assumptions

- A follow-up visit may have a different vet and different clinic allocated.
- A follow-up visit cannot generate more follow-up visits.
- visit_id is a unique identifying key for a particular visit.
- follow up visits do not need to record the pet owner as they can assess that from the initial visit_id.
- Assume that the same owner will attend a follow up visit, hence their owner id does not to be recorded again. This is because of the condition that a pet will only be assigned under one owner.
- Assume that the length of the follow-up visit does not need to be recorded as the given notes on the initial visit can be used to make a good assumption of the time taken.
- There can be certain specialisations that have no vets have specialised in.
- A follow-up visit can involve another vet that is different from the original visit.
- A follow-up visit can also involve another clinic as some may require specialist vets or for other general reasons such as availability of a vet.
